About Me

With a background as a IT, designer and programmer, IT development and management, I can definitely contribute with well-developed organizational skills. I am solution-oriented as a person and motivated by reaching the goal of the assignment I get. I am reliable and dependable and often seek new responsibilities within a wide range of employment areas.

As a person I am dedicated, open-minded and trustful. I am comfortable by communicating with others and being around people. I appreciate an open and honest dialogue as well as how things are handled.
